1. Briefly describe five apps that use computer vision and provide a guess about how they do what they do at the implementation level.

2. Describe how the Kinect sensor works (not what it does, but how it does it).

3. Install python and the computer vision packages described in the textbook. Make sure you can read and write images. Show an example of one of the transformations described in chapter one.