

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT EL PASO

COMPUTER SCIENCE

OVERVIEW

UTEP has surpassed an enrollment milestone of more than 23,000 students—a record that surely validates UTEP’s success in offering affordable access to higher education excellence for residents of a historically undereducated region. Hispanic Business Magazine consistently ranks graduate programs in both Business Administration and Engineering in the Top 10 in the nation. UTEP ranks first nationally in the number of Hispanic graduates in Mathematics and Statistics, Engineering, and Education, and third among all U.S. colleges and universities in the total number of bachelor’s degrees awarded to Hispanics in all academic disciplines. With $90 million in total annual research expenditures, UTEP ranks third among University of Texas System academic institutions in federal research spending. More than 334 faculty and staff members were actively engaged in research and sponsored projects last year, and a record number of 581 proposals were submitted, resulting in more than $51.6 million in new funding commitments.

The Computer Science Department is one of less than 20 institutions nationally that have been named an NSA Academic Center of Excellence in Cyber Security. In addition, the university was recently designated as a satellite extension of the Army Research Laboratory (ARL) South.
